

The National Flood Forum

What we do

The National Flood Forum is a national charity dedicated to supporting and representing communities and individuals at risk of flooding. We do this by:

1. Helping people to prepare for flooding in order to prevent it or mitigate its impacts
2. Helping people to recover their lives once they have been flooded
3. Campaigning on behalf of flood risk communities and working with government and agencies to ensure that they develop a community perspective.

How we help

- Facilitating and supporting community flood groups. We now have 160 affiliated groups in England and Wales
- Helping communities to recover from flooding
- Providing a telephone help line for all flood related enquiries including insurance.
- Providing information and guidance through our website and our regular bulletin
- Flood surgeries and exhibitions to help people with their problems raise awareness
- Training for local authorities, agencies and the voluntary sector
- Blue pages directory of products

Flood risk insurance

The availability and affordability of property insurance in flood risk areas is becoming an increasing problem. The existing agreement between the government and the insurance industry relating to this expires at the end of June 2013 and so far negotiations to obtain a new and effective deal have failed to produce an agreement. The National Flood Forum (NFF) is campaigning over this and Selly Park South Flood Action Group fully supports this campaign. Please read about this by following the link below and please do sign the NFF's e-petition to the government which is linked from the NFF web page.
